The Criminal Justice (Sentencing) (Licence Conditions) (Amendment) Order 2022 No. 459

11th May 2022

The Police, Crime, Sentencing and Courts Act 2022 will introduce a power for the police to search terrorist offenders released on licence where they are satisfied it is necessary to do so to protect members of the public from a risk of terrorism, and where the offender has a search condition included in their licence. This Order amends the list of types of licence conditions in an Order from 2015, to provide for the inclusion of the search condition in the licences of released terrorist offenders.

The Terrorism Prevention and Investigation Measures (Polygraph) Regulations 2022 No. 462

12th May 2022

These Regulations govern the conduct of polygraph examinations in relation to individuals who are subject to a Terrorism Prevention and Investigation Measures notice. They set out requirements as to qualifications, experience and continuing development training for those responsible for carrying out polygraph examinations. The Regulations prohibit police officers, probation officers or therapists from conducting polygraph examinations on individuals whom they have managed, supervised or treated. They also require a police officer to explain to the individual being examined how any information they give during the session may be used. The Regulations restrict the type of questions that can be asked during a polygraph examination and require polygraph operators to maintain reports of the session.

4th May 2022

The order does not extend to premises which sell alcohol for consumption off the premises.
