Dear Licensing

I wish to object strongly to the application submitted by the University of Chicago Booth School of Business at One Bartholomew Close for a late-night licence.

Bartholomew Close, which includes Barts Square (a new development of more than 230 flats) and surrounding buildings, is almost predominantly a residential area and should be considered as one and not as a late-night playground.

There is supposed to be a zone forbidding deliveries from 11pm till 7am in our area - this is regularly flouted and some residents in the Barts Square development already suffer too many disturbances from lorries and vans during that no delivery period, so it would be wholly unfair and inappropriate to permit a late-night licence.

Please consider this application and the objections from residents with care, and reject it.

Thank you,

John Foley
