Subject: Objection to Chicago Business School alcohol license

THIS IS AN EXTERNAL EMAIL

I am a resident of the Askew Building, 50 Bartholomew Close and wish to lodge my objection to this proposal. An alcohol license will potentially give rise to noise and public nuisance on any/every evening of the week or weekend and will disturb many residents who were attracted to this development, in large part due to its quiet location with the City.

As a residential area with over 230 apartments in Barts Square, plus other longer established homes in the vicinity, the disturbance caused by people arriving and leaving a late-night venue on our doorstep will likely have a very negative impact on this mostly peaceful environment. Indeed, the City of London Corporation approved the development of Barts Square that has successfully attracted people to live in the area. There are plenty of licensed premises in nearby and less residential areas of the City and I therefore do not consider it necessary, or prudent, to allow this application to be approved.

Kind regards

Victoria Sims
