Foreword - Policy Chairman

Whichever lens you use to view the City of London Corporation – be it a global voice of financial and professional services, an economic powerhouse, a London leader, the custodian of the Square Mile, or a place you call home – we have significant challenges and opportunities to navigate. Over the next five years, we will provide leadership at local, London-wide, national, and international levels through the outcomes articulated in our new corporate plan.

This corporate plan provides direction and leadership on the issues that matter, including tackling the climate crisis; growing the economy to support jobs and businesses and fund public services; and embracing new technologies that can transform education and healthcare. This is leadership not just for our generation, but for the generations of the future.

Our status as a global financial powerhouse faces international competition like never before. Dynamic economic growth and being globally competitive is vital to the success of people and businesses not just in the financial and professional services sector, or the City, but the entire country. We will press forward with our Vision for Economic Growth to help unlock investment and create prosperity, creating more jobs, and helping to fund the public services we all rely on.

The Square Mile serves as the engine of the UK economy. It generates £85 billion in economic output annually, supporting 615,000 jobs and businesses ranging from our vital SMEs to global giants. Our financial and professional services firms underpin modern life, supporting everything from daily purchases to major life moments. This sector is a truly nationwide industry, with two-thirds of the 2.5 million jobs outside of London. We will continue to partner with regional and local leaders, trade associations, and businesses to promote our sector and deliver on its contributions.

In London, the City of London Corporation not only governs our capital's financial district, but helps drive its overall success. Our major capital investments into London's civic fabric and public realm will support national cultural icons for all to enjoy. We are partnering with the Greater London Authority to build a new world-class London Museum. We are creating an international justice hub through our development at Salisbury Square. And we are relocating our historic Billingsgate and Smithfield markets to Barking and Dagenham, creating over 10,000 new jobs. As the sole trustee of the City Bridge Foundation, London's biggest independent charity funder, we donate over £30 million across the capital annually.

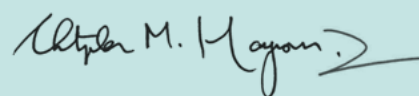

In the City itself, changing economic conditions and working patterns mean we must promote and secure a magnetic place that attracts businesses and people alike. Being a successful and safe area – a world-leading business district and leisure destination that appeals to residents, workers, companies, and visitors alike – is vital for our long-term prospects.

Crucial to our success is creating a safe and vibrant destination in the Square Mile. The world of work has changed and will continue to do so. Enticing workers back to the office means earning their commute. That requires excellence across a range of factors from business appeal to transport, policing to the built environment, hospitality to promoting our cultural offer, and more. Our dedicated City of London Police will continue to keep our streets secure, and in their role as National Lead Force for fraud, will contribute to national economic security, both physically and online. By improving our public services and cultural offer, we want our residents to be able to call the Square Mile the best place to live.

I am immensely proud to serve as the Policy Chairman and Political Leader of the City of London Corporation.

This corporate plan showcases not only our commitment to the residents, businesses and communities we serve in the Square Mile, but emphasises our leadership in contributing to the UK's future prosperity.

Working together, there is no limit to what we can, and will, achieve.

Chris Hayward

Foreword - Town Clerk and Chief Executive

The City of London Corporation is a unique organisation. For 900 years, we've served as custodians of the nation's trading centre, the beating heart of London. We've helped the capital transition from a small settlement to a global powerhouse. As the City has evolved, so have we, with responsibilities that extend today into wider London, the United Kingdom, and beyond.

But the City of London is more than a business district, and we at the City of London Corporation are more than guardians of history. We are convenors, facilitators, enablers, philanthropists, landlords, educators, environmentalists, and more. We have responsibilities that span a broad geographical reach, and we have statutory responsibilities that we take seriously.

We're privileged to serve a diverse range of communities. As the governing body of the Square Mile, the City of London Corporation has responsibilities to residents, workers, businesses, visitors, and many more. It is serving this collection of communities, both in the City and elsewhere, that makes the City of London Corporation an exciting and unique place to be.

Whether you call the City of London home, or work, study or visit here or at one of our sites outside the Square Mile, this corporate plan is for you.

The following pages outline the actions that we as one organisation – including our institutions – will take over the next five fantastic years to ensure that the City of London offers the best place to live, work, learn, and explore.

Guided by this corporate plan, we are embarking on an exciting and challenging range of work that is only possible at the City of London Corporation. Where we excel, we want to continue demonstrating leadership. Where we can be better, we have the aspiration and commitment to improve. That means building on brilliant basics and the provision of statutory duties to deliver for people; contributing to our civic life both in the City and further afield; and delivering social inclusion and social mobility for all.

To be world-class, to achieve our ambitions, we'll need to work collaboratively as one team, breaking down organisational silos to solve the important issues of the day. We will proactively create new partnerships and develop existing ones; and be values-driven in our interactions, promoting equity, diversity and inclusion, and supporting sustainability (economic, social, and environmental).

We will be accountable, measuring our success against targets that will evolve to reflect new challenges. Clear targets will help us make better, more effective, and more strategic decisions. Embedded in decision-making at all levels, this corporate plan will be our golden thread, enabling everyone within the organisation, wherever they work, to feel connected to, and a part of, the next five years.

Leading our response to the challenges and opportunities of the next five years will be our people. Wherever they are based, our dedicated professionals are key to delivering our objectives. To recognise our dynamic workforce as the asset that they are, our first people strategy has been developed in tandem with this corporate plan.

Together, they are steps toward our ambition of being a values-driven organisation.

This plan is for everyone connected to the work, activities, and responsibilities of the City of London Corporation. We want to deliver the things that matter to you. We want to ensure that the people and places we support are the best they can be. Working in partnership with all our communities, institutions and spaces, we will shape a fantastic five years ahead, together.

Who we are

Our mission

The City of London Corporation is the governing body of the Square Mile dedicated to a vibrant and thriving City, supporting a diverse and sustainable London within a globally-successful UK.

About the City of London Corporation

The City of London Corporation (CoLC) looks after the City of London ('the City' or 'Square Mile') on behalf of all who live, study, work, and visit; providing modern, efficient, and high-quality local services and policing for all.

We have a long history, a unique constitution, our own Lord Mayor, and a dedicated police service keeping the City safe.

Our independent and non-partisan political voice and convening power enables us to promote the interests of people and organisations across London and the UK, and play a valued role on the world-stage.

We aim to support London's communities through responsible business, charitable giving, improving the capital's air quality, providing education and skills for young people, and delivering affordable housing across London.

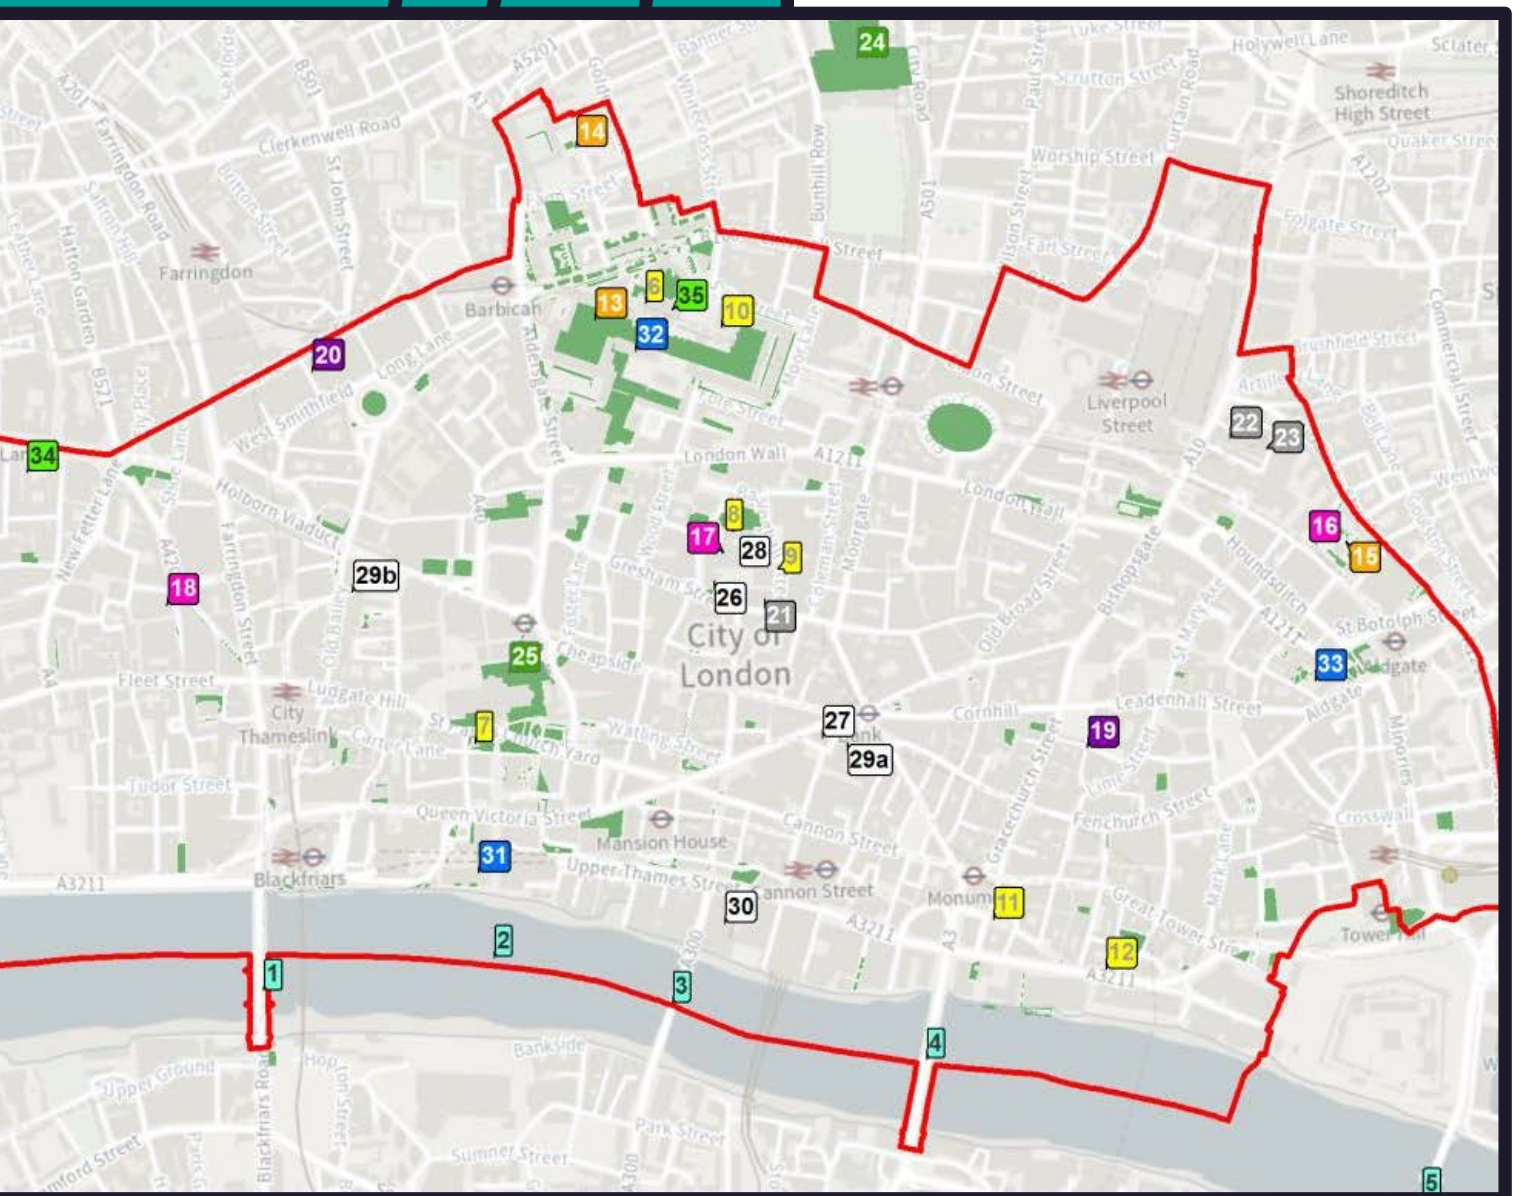

We protect and conserve 19 major green spaces in London and Southeast England – including Hampstead Heath and Epping Forest – and over 200 smaller ones in the Square Mile. They include important wildlife habitats, sites of scientific interest and national nature reserves. They are protected from being built on by special legislation.

We are the port health authority for London, the largest port health authority in the UK. We protect public health by preventing infectious disease, ensuring water quality, making vessel inspections, and enforcing environmental controls.

The City Corporation provides local government services for our 8,600 residents (Census 2021) and 614,500 City workers (Office for National Statistics 2022) based in the Square Mile. To be truly representative of its population, businesses and other organisations registered in the Square Mile are entitled to nominate voters to City elections so that, alongside registered residents, they can have a say on the way the City Corporation is run.

Executive summary

Context

This corporate plan informs effective use of resources and guides planning and decision-making for the City of London Corporation from 2024 to 2029 through six strategic outcomes, ultimately ensuring everything we do aligns to our mission to be world-class.

Recognising we are responsible for a range of stakeholders across multiple locations, we have developed this corporate plan through extensive engagement. This plan does not detail the full extent of activities we undertake, but is intended to be used by everyone associated with the City of London Corporation.

Three lenses were used to develop the City of London Corporation Corporate Plan 2024 to 2029. These were:

1. Global and external trends
2. Internal and external engagement
3. Business: completed, planned and ongoing (for example, political commitments, statutory obligations and corporate priorities)

Principles

This corporate plan is a living document which is being monitored, reviewed, and refreshed during the five-year period, with progress published annually. It includes positive outcomes which are measurable by assessing impact. These measures will be further developed and refined during the lifetime of the plan.

The plan also:

- ties individual contribution to our core purpose
- builds on the past and lays a foundation for the future
- is informed by extensive engagement and collaboration
- recognises spheres of operation and influence in the Square Mile, London, nationally, and globally
- will be implemented through and alongside other strategies and programmes
- is agile and iterative to respond to new challenges
- will be embedded in all areas of work, from business plans to individual staff reports, acting as a ‘golden thread’ across the organisation

Outcomes

The six corporate plan outcomes are of equal importance, reflecting the vast portfolios covered by the City of London Corporation. They are interlinked and delivered through activities across the organisation and in partnership with our stakeholders. We will strive for equity, equality, diversity and inclusion to ensure impactful delivery.

Diverse Engaged Communities

Vibrant Thriving Destination

Dynamic Economic Growth

Providing Excellent Services

Leading Sustainable Environment

Flourishing Public Spaces

These outcomes bring to life priorities gathered from feedback we received about our focus during the next five years. We gathered this feedback from the diverse communities we serve, including residents and businesses and the sectors we represent. The outcomes also encapsulate wider considerations about safety, security, social value, sustainability, open spaces, economic competitiveness, and accessibility.

This corporate plan is a catalyst for excellence. Combining improved ways of working, strategy and culture, and collaborative leadership to best use resources. Our goal is for the City of London Corporation to be a world-class organisation. One that is resilient, responsive and agile; and seizes, leverages and creates opportunities for all.

Six Outcomes

Diverse Engaged Communities

Across our residents, workers, businesses, and visitors, everyone should feel that they belong. Connecting people of all ages and backgrounds will help build diverse, engaged communities that are involved in co-creating great services and outcomes.

Leading Sustainable Environment

We have a responsibility to ensure that we act as a leader on environmental sustainability and strive to enhance it in all aspects of how we work. Climate action, resilience, air quality, and sustainability are all facets of ambitious targets for the entire City to be net zero by 2040.

Providing Excellent Services

Supporting people to live healthy, independent lives and achieve their ambitions is dependent on excellent services. Vital to that continued pursuit is enabling access to effective adult and children's social care, outstanding education, lifelong learning, quality housing, and combatting homelessness.

Dynamic Economic Growth

The City of London is the engine in the country's economy. Driving dynamic economic growth in financial and professional services at local, national, and international levels will create jobs, attract investment, and support businesses across communities and the country.

Vibrant Thriving Destination

Attracting businesses and people to a safe, secure, and dynamic location is vital to our future. A world-leading culture and leisure offer is integral to creating a vibrant, thriving destination where everyone prospers.

Flourishing Public Spaces

From our historic wholesale markets and cultural icons, such as the Barbican, to our world-famous bridges and amazing green spaces, we are stewards of unique national assets. Major capital investment into our civic fabric will secure flourishing public spaces, enabling a more successful London overall.

Monitoring impact

Our objective

Monitoring and reporting on corporate performance through the use of appropriate measures and methodologies (including objective key results) will ensure we are on track to achieve our stated outcomes. It will allow us to report progress, map success, and identify areas that may benefit from additional resource, or where improvement may be required.

Our aspirations

For each outcome, an initial selection of performance measures have been identified that will allow us to keep track of progress. These are based on agreed metrics that support existing strategies and business plans, and will be refined over the lifetime of this corporate plan.

Our aim is to track both quantitative and qualitative performance information, and report on this annually. Reporting mechanisms will be iterative. This is a new way of working as we develop data maturity and capability.

Our reporting will improve year on year as more data becomes available and is used for our analytical work, and will extend to the development of scorecards and dashboards.

Some targets already exist within our suite of performance metrics; the same is true for benchmarking and SMART measures. Once we have sufficient data and have improved our data management capabilities, we will include a more expansive suite of comparative metrics in this corporate plan.
