The Police Pension Scheme Annual Statement

You will find enclosed your annual pension benefits statement. Please read the following notes as they explain how the figures have been calculated.

Although every effort has been made to ensure that the data held is correct, should you find any information on your statement that is incorrect, please contact Graham Newman in the Pensions Office.

I trust that the position is clear to you, however should you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact Graham Newman on 020 7332 1132 or e-mail your query to policepensions@cityoflondon.gov.uk

About your statement

The estimated benefit details are a guide only and do not confer any statutory rights.

All calculations have been based on information held by the Pensions Office and are based upon your pensionable pay and pensionable service as at 31 March 2016.

Pensionable pay

The pensionable pay figure is based on your pay over the preceding year, which would include your basic pay, London weighting and any pensionable acting up payments. If you are a part-time officer, your pensionable pay will have been increased to a whole-time equivalent rate. Any payments not relating to the final year would be excluded from any final calculations. This pay figure has been used in all (except the lump sum death grant for part-timers) of the following calculations and has not been inflated to take account of future increases.

Present Value of Benefits

If you have less than 25 years' service, a deferred pension benefit will have been calculated, which means that your pension figure will have been enhanced to take account of your hypothetical pension entitlement at compulsory retirement age. Deferred pensions normally become payable at age 60. If you have at least 25 or more, but less than 30 years' service, you will have a pension entitlement, although there would be a restriction on the amount of commutation lump sum that could be paid (details available on request). Your pension would be based on actual service, and payable from age 50 onwards. If you have at least 30 years' service you would have an immediate entitlement to pension benefits upon leaving service.

Death Benefits

A death grant is payable if you die while serving, provided you are a member of the Police Pensions Scheme at the time of death. The grant will be paid either to your spouse/civil partner or, if there is no spouse/civil partner, it will be paid to your Estate.

It is important that you keep the Pensions Office informed of any changes to your partnership status, supplying photocopies of any relevant certificates and documents when necessary.

If you are unsure of the partnership status currently held by the Pensions Office then please contact them for confirmation.

Please note. If you are in receipt of a housing or rent allowance, the weekly value of this allowance should be added to the short term 13 week pension, if shown overleaf.

Widow / Widower's Pensions

You will find that your annual statement shows a potential widow/widower's pension figure. If you are married or in a civil partnership and haven't already done so, please forward a photocopy of the relevant certificates (partner's birth certificate or passport and marriage/civil partnership certificate) to the Pensions Office.

Annual Allowance

Each year the growth in your pension scheme benefits, referred to as pension input amount, is compared with the annual allowance (AA). If your pension savings have increased by more than the AA in the past year you may be liable to a tax charge.

Most scheme members will not be affected by the AA tax charge however we have included the value of your pension input amount in this year's statement based on the information we hold with regard to your Police Pension Scheme benefit. You should add this value to any other pension benefits you have accrued during the year.

You may be allowed to bring forward any unused allowance from the last 3 years. This means that even if the value of your pension savings increase by more than the AA in a year you may not be liable to pay the AA tax charge. If you are at risk of exceeding the AA you should seek advice. Further information can be found at <http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/pensionschemes/understanding-aa.htm>
